COURSES OFFERED

NURSING

GNM NURSING

(General Nursing and Midwifery)

GNM or General Nursing and Midwifery, is a 3 years duration course commonly known as GNM Nursing. It is a diploma-level course suitable for those pursuing a clinical nursing career. The 3 years of GNM Nursing course duration are divided into 3 years of education.

GNM Eligibility

The main eligibility criteria to pursue a GNM Nursing course in India are listed below.

- ▶ 10+2 with English and must have obtained a minimum of 40% at the qualifying examination and English individually for any recognized board. Candidates are also eligible from State Open School recognized by State Government and National Institute of Open School (NIOS) recognized by Central Government. However Science is preferable.
- ▶ 10+2 with English having 40% of marks in vocational ANM course from the school recognized by Indian Nursing council.
- ▶ 10+2 with English having 40% of marks in Vocational Stream-Health care Science from a recognized CBSE board/Centre.
- ▶ Registered ANM with pass mark.
- ▶ 5% is relaxed for SC/ST candidates.

For foreign nationals

- ▶ The entry qualification equivalency i.e., 12th standard will be obtained by Association of Indian Universities, New Delhi, Institution and State Nursing Council will be responsible to ensure that the qualification and eligibility will be equivalent to what has been prescribed as above.

Career Opportunities After General Nursing and Midwifery (GNM) Course

A graduate who has completed a GNM course has several options for pursuing a nursing career. Government & Private Hospitals, Old Age Homes, NGOs, Dispensaries, Nursing Homes, Private Clinics,

Community Health Centres, Nurse Coaching academy etc, are some of the top sectors that unlock career prospects. The following list includes some of the top nursing job opportunities-

Community Nurse

Community health nurses' main responsibility is to treat patients. Additionally, community health nurses educate locals on how to preserve their health so they can reduce the incidence of illnesses and fatalities. They organise educational events, distribute flyers, carry out health checkup, dispense medication, and administer vaccinations.

Forensic Nurse

Registered nurses who specialise in the investigation of crimes of rape, violence, or assault are known as forensic nurses. This includes evaluating the victim, safeguarding evidence, offering care, and testifying in any upcoming legal processes.

Midwife Nurse

A midwife nurse is a medical specialist who offers women's health services such as gynaecological exams, contraceptive advice, medications, labour and delivery care. During a typical pregnancy and delivery, they offer all specialized & critical medical care and services.

Clinical Nurse

A clinical nurse oversees and manages the daily patient care operations, and ensures compliance with established clinical policies, procedures, guidelines and norms. Additionally, they provide direct patient assessment and consultation while coordinating operations with many other patient care units.

Emergency Care Nurse

A patient's injuries must first be quickly and thoroughly assessed by an emergency room nurse before a patient's care plan can be formulated. Common duties include setting bones, administering blood transfusions, caring for wounds, and much more. Similar to a conventional Registered Nurse, an Emergency Room Nurse will record vital signs and keep tabs on the patient's health. However, the fast-paced nature of the job of emergency room nurses necessitates quick thinking and decision-making.

Nurse Educator

You will have the chance, as a nurse educator, to mentor the upcoming nursing workforce and influence its direction. Although the roles of nurse educators vary depending on the specialty and level of education, some of your general duties might include developing and teaching curricula, general lab supervision and clinical work, participating in committees for the nursing department, creating programmes and much more.
